

World Canvas Transparency

Charter

Trust is earned through openness.

Introduction

World Canvas exists to preserve humanity's creativity through one continuously expanding digital artwork.

Contributors trust World Canvas with something deeply personal: their place within a shared historical monument.

That trust must be earned continuously.

The purpose of this Charter is to establish how World Canvas communicates with its contributors, how significant decisions are disclosed, and how the company remains accountable while operating a sustainable platform.

Transparency is not a feature.

It is a responsibility.

Our Commitment

World Canvas commits to operating with honesty, clarity, and accountability.

We will communicate openly whenever doing so does not compromise:

- User privacy.
- Platform security.
- Legal obligations.
- Fraud prevention.
- The safety of our contributors.

When we cannot disclose information, we will explain why whenever legally and practically possible.

Our Responsibility as Stewards

World Canvas is owned by an independent company.

Our responsibility is to:

- Maintain the platform.
- Preserve the canvas.

- Protect contributor ownership rights.
- Operate sustainably.
- Invest in long-term preservation.

We believe stewardship requires transparency.

Contributors should understand how the platform evolves and why important decisions are made.

Historical versions of foundational documents will remain publicly accessible.

Financial Stewardship

World Canvas is a for-profit company.

We believe financial sustainability is necessary to preserve the canvas for future generations.

While we are not obligated to disclose confidential financial information, we commit to communicating openly about:

- Major changes to our pricing model.
- New recurring revenue programs.
- Significant changes affecting contributor costs.
- Material changes to the business model.

We will never disguise pricing changes or materially alter the platform economy without public notice.

Ownership Transparency

Every Cell has a permanent public identity.

World Canvas will preserve publicly visible information including:

- WCID.
- Coordinates.
- Creation date.
- Current ownership.
- Marketplace status (when applicable).

Ownership history shall be preserved according to the Ownership & Marketplace Charter.

Historical Preservation

World Canvas exists to preserve history.

Accordingly:

- Historical records will not be intentionally erased except where required by law.
- Major milestones will remain documented.
- Historical versions of public governance documents will remain available.

We believe transparency includes preserving our own history as a company.

Security Transparency

Security occasionally requires confidentiality.

When incidents occur that materially affect contributors, World Canvas will communicate:

- What happened.
- What information was affected.
- What actions were taken.
- What contributors should do, if anything.
- What improvements are being implemented.

We will never intentionally conceal a significant security incident that materially affects contributor accounts or ownership.

Policy Transparency

Whenever practical, policy changes shall be announced before taking effect.

Announcements will explain:

- What is changing.
- Why the change is necessary.
- When the change becomes effective.
- Which contributors are affected.

Our goal is to avoid surprises.

Community Communication

World Canvas commits to maintaining regular communication with its community.

This may include:

- Development updates.
- Annual reports.

- Community Q&A sessions.
- Roadmap review.
- Product announcements.
- Stewardship updates.

We believe informed contributors strengthen the platform.

Artificial Intelligence

If artificial intelligence is used to assist with moderation tools, search, recommendations, customer support, or other platform features, World Canvas will disclose where AI materially influences the user experience.

Human oversight will remain responsible for decisions that materially affect contributor rights.

Data Privacy

Transparency never comes at the expense of privacy.

We will never publicly disclose:

- Private account information.

- Payment information.
- Personal identifying information beyond what contributors intentionally make public.
- Confidential security details that would increase platform risk.

Transparency and privacy are complementary responsibilities.

Accountability

If World Canvas makes a mistake, we will acknowledge it.

When appropriate, we will explain:

- What happened.
- Why it happened.
- What we learned.
- What steps are being taken to prevent recurrence.

Trust is strengthened by accountability, not perfection.

Annual Stewardship Report

Each year, World Canvas intends to publish an Annual Stewardship Report summarizing the state of the platform.

This report may include:

- Growth of the canvas.
- Infrastructure improvements.
- Marketplace activity.
- Preservation initiatives.
- Community participation.
- Major milestones.
- Significant product developments.
- Stewardship priorities for the coming year.

This report serves as a historical record of the platform's evolution.

What We Will Never Do

World Canvas will never intentionally:

- Misrepresent platform statistics.
- Conceal material pricing changes.
- Secretly alter contributor ownership rights.
- Sell contributors artwork without authorization.
- Change foundational principles without public documentation.

Our relationship with contributors depends upon honesty.

Closing Statement

Every Cell entrusted to World Canvas represents someone's story.

Every contributor places trust in our ability to preserve that story.

Transparency is how we honor that trust.

By communicating openly, documenting our decisions, and remaining accountable to the people who build the canvas, we strengthen not only the platform, but the monument we are creating together.

One Canvas.

One History.

One Humanity.
